How To Become A Board Member

8TH MARCH 2022
13:00-14:00 CEST

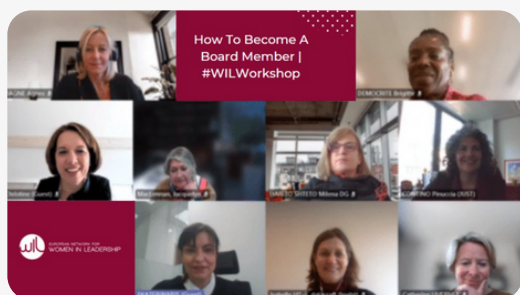

Most mandates are not published. A network is the number one way to get a mandate. Talk to people - Isabelle Hilali

Expand your network. Become a member of active professional networks like WIL. Give support and ask for support from other women - Rania Ekaterinari

To commemorate International Women's Day, we hosted our "How to Become a Board Member" workshop in partnership with Voxfemina. WIL Member, Rania Ekaterinari, previously a C-level executive and currently serving as a non-executive board member in four corporates, two listed in the Athens Large Cap Index, kicked off on what it takes to become a strong candidate for board nomination. She presented candidates' profile that meet the criteria that listed companies are seeking today for their board composition and how women professionals can advance their skills and visibility to this direction. Our second speaker, Voxfemina Member Isabelle Hilali, founder and CEO of datacraft and non executive director of the Healthcare Institute and of the SHOM, underlined the importance of the different skillset that are interesting to Boards, including new competencies such as digital & data and corporate social responsibility. She also illustrated the different ways Board positions might be obtained.

The two informative ten-minute presentations were followed by a lively Q&A and discussion with Members from WIL Europe and Voxfemina, who probed the two speakers on the issues raised in their presentations and took the opportunity to offer reflections and feedback on their own experiences.
